Referred. The names of Sub-Lieut. Sindall R.N.R., Sub-Lieut. Hampsheir R.N.R., and and C.M.M. Beeley are submitted for their Lordships' favourable consideration.

This was a most gallant attempt considering that at Petrograd during June it is never really dark, there being only about 3 hours twilight.

In the case of the two last named, Sub-Lieut. Hampsheir was 2nd in command and C.M.M. Beeley in charge of machinery of the C.M.B. which carried out a successful attack on the Bolshevik ship, resulting in the torpedoing of the Courier "OLEG" during the night of the 17th -18th June
